CEP's Nomad Energy achieves ISO 9001 and 14001 certifications

Cambridge Energy Partners' subsidiary Nomad Energy has achieved ISO 9001 and 14001 certifications from United Registrar of Systems Ltd (URS)

CAMBRIDGE, UK, February 5, 2021 — Cambridge Energy Partners (CEP) has announced that its Spanish manufacturing plant has achieved ISO 9001:2015 and ISO 14001:2015 certifications from United Registrar of Systems Ltd (URS). The plant operates under CEP's subsidiary Nomad Energy SL and this marks a successful end to the first phase in CEP's global manufacturing ambitions.

"We are very pleased with the results of our recent factory build," said Lourdes Coll, Nomad's Quality and HSE Manager. "These certifications reinforce our commitment to quality, and we expect these efforts will translate into meaningful cost savings for solar installations worldwide."

The Nomad manufacturing facility can produce a Gigawatt of CEP's prefabricated solar trackers per year at full capacity.

"Our ISO 9001 and 14001 certifications are evidence of our commitment to implementing quality manufacturing systems with an environmentally focused mindset. This commitment should give complete confidence in our ability to meet our customers' needs, while also complying with the strictest of regulatory requirements in a wide range of regulatory jurisdictions," said Carlos Garcia-Sutter, Nomad Plant Manager.

"I am incredibly proud of Lourdes, Carlos, and the Nomad team" said Tom Miller, CEO of Nomad's parent company, CEP. "Responsible manufacturing is at the core of CEP's future and we look forward to replicating this blueprint across global markets."
